Premier utilines Policy in Tribute to Late King Edward.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch. Cannes, France, April 13.—Frances attitude in regard to future world poutles was outined by Premier formers in the course of an eloquetribute which he paid at the dedication of the statue of the late King Edward as the straight of the late King Edward as the artisan of the triphe understanding between Great Britain, France and Russia, saying that he was a laboret for world peace and civilization and for the progress of humaity. In Inture, M. Poincare declared that France would steadnssty adhere to the policy of peace which King Edward had hid down in the understanding between the three countries. He continued:

"France will neither attack not provote, but in order to be convinced that she hereaft will be neither attacked nor provoked she must have had and sea torces capable of commanding respect for her honor and insuring the defense of her interests. It is by our own resources of men and money and by our naval and military power that we will primarily safeguard our rights and dignity."

This sense of security, he concluded, would be fortlined by the sympathy and support of France's friends and allies.
